Reflection:

Many people give witness to hope: hope that good will win out. Sometimes in our own lives we must do the same: getting on with life even in the shadow of death. Despite the worst that can and does happen, Christians have hope. This is the hope in this weekend's Gospel: the hope that endurance will win out. Christians believe that life will not end. Rather life will be transformed as Jesus was transformed in his resurrection. Life will be transformed because it is made by God and important to God. In the end, come what may, God will revive and restore our full potential: our potential for peace, our potential for contentment, our potential for creativity, and our potential for love. Jesus assures us today that, in the end, our hope will not be denied and God will see to it that all will live a life to the full.

Death We pray for the recently deceased: Sr Gemma McCusker, Convent of Mercy, Clogher, Enniskillen and Tamlaght. May she rest in peace.

A word of Appreciation – From Clogher

Most sincere thanks to the priests and people of Enniskillen and Lisbellaw for their help and support to me during my time in the Parish. Over the years many bonds of friendship and love have been created between us through the celebration of the Eucharist and on the occasion of Baptisms, Marriages and family funerals. Heartfelt thanks to Mgr Peter O'Reilly and all the priests that I served with, to all the staff in the Parish, the Curates' House, Parish Office and the Bookshop.

I am deeply grateful to the Parish for the generous gift which Mgr Peter presented to me at the Parish Dance, and to all who sent me cards, good wishes and gifts. I am overwhelmed by people's kindness and thoughtfulness.

As I have taken up my appointment in Clogher I am grateful to God and to the people of the Parish for the memories of the happy years I spent among you. I ask you to pray for me.

May God bless all your families with health, happiness and peace.
