Reflection

The second edition of the Parish Newsletter is available this weekend. It is part of the work of developing the parish. The Newsletter is meant to be a celebration of the parish and the work of its members; it is intended as an outreach to a wider group of parishioners; the Council would wish it to appeal to a range of different age groups; it is hoped that it would contain some indication as to where we are as a parish; it contains some useful information regarding an aspect of everyday parish life.

All this offers an invitation to us as parishioners: an invitation to read the Newsletter. The best resource in the world has little effect until it is taken and used. So, the invitation is to see the reading of the Newsletter as a participation in the life of the parish. In this weekend's Gospel, Jesus tells Martha that her sister Mary is to be commended for stepping aside from the duties and distractions of daily life. The Newsletter offers one way of joining in the life of the parish and building up our sense of community and identity. It can reinforce our sense of belonging, as we give it time.

Deaths: We pray for the recently deceased: Maura Keenan, Armagh; Eileen McCreesh, Castelbalfour, Lisnaskea; Gerard Murtagh, 19 Cambourne Park, Belfast; Kevin James Lawton, late of Cork and County Care Nursing Home; Evelyn Quinn, Main Street, Carrickmore. May they rest in peace.
